Go On An Impulsive Ride On KTEE's 'Rollercoaster'

September 20, 2017 | Zoe Griffin

World-bound vivacious KTEE is a fresh artist with an intense soulful voice who has been compared to the likes of Zara Larsson and Louisa Johnson. This small town girl took a big leap for the sake of music, leaving her home of Austria and settling in Dublin, enabling her the opportunity to musically bloom.

KTEE's new video for 'Rollercoaster' speaks on the emotional ride of relationships, with long shots of herself and a rather pretty man on Barcelona beach one windy day. KTEE describes almost giving up on writing 'Rollercoaster' until her songwriting partner managed to improvise the whole verse of the song, to which the pop singer wrote the song in an hour.

The University of Vienna graduate explains having received various noise complaints from neighbours about her music and singing habits, and although disheartening, she refused to let the negativity pull her away from it. This eventually led her to meet long-time producer Bern Wagner, whom she has worked with ever since.

Music is and always will be KTEE's fate. Her musical journey is just beginning, and through talent and consistency at various European performances, has been introduced and worked with the likes of Dutch producers Bolland and Bolland and artist Aura Dione. Just a few of the many opportunities bound to head the artist's way.
